

Live Webcasting

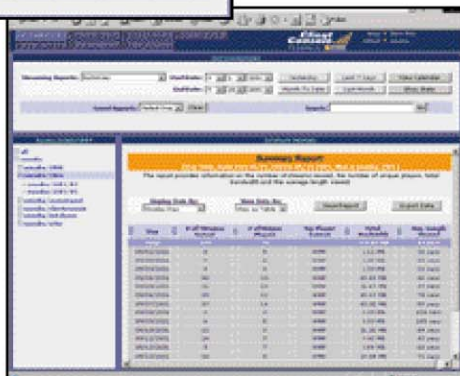

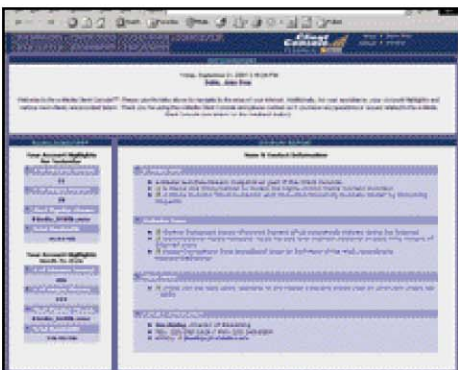

e-Media is the leading webcasting provider in the industry, our experience and applications are time-tested and proven. Webcasting your content creates a sense of urgency for your viewers and is a very effective way to broadcast a message from one-to-many with limited audience participation. Many companies simultaneously broadcast a message to local audiences while delivering a video or audio stream to more distant audiences. Whether it is an executive address or product launch, e-Media offers audio and video webcasting, the most popular formats and your choice of connection speeds. e-Media can support millions of simultaneous viewers without loss of quality. Our client services organization can help you make strategic decisions about your content and is available 24/7 to answer your questions.

Media-On-Demand

Delivering on-demand streaming media is an effective and impactful way to communicate with your customers, employees, partners and investors. Providing on-demand streaming to your audience enables them to view content at their convenience and continue to review content until they have absorbed the message. It is also a great addition to other video or audio content that you have provided during a live broadcast or webcast. e-Media's streaming media on-demand solution provides you with the highest quality experience. We can encode, host and support audio/video content in the most popular formats at any connection speed that you choose. e-Media can support millions of simultaneous viewers without loss of quality. Our client services organization can help you make strategic decisions about your content and is available 24/7 to answer your questions.
