

Lights, Camera, but Mostly Action!

For more than a decade, Eric Mingorance has owned and operated Mingo Media, now a Limited Liability Corporation. Over the years, Mingo Media has served a full range of Broadcast and Corporate clients. Working on communication campaigns ranging from traditional to digital media. Eric's extensive industry experience brings considerable expertise to each assignment.

This experience pays off when the job needs to get done, the message needs to get out, and the show must go on. Eric has the ability to make decisions quickly and effectively. Eric's breadth of knowledge within the communications industry helps him create effective solutions that save time, money and headaches.

Whether Eric's company is hired to broadcast live via satellite, stream a meeting over the web, put an ad in a magazine or a magazine on a Compact Disc, technological know-how always plays a role. However, Mingo Media understands that skills and proven practice determine what role technology plays and how it's best implemented in any particular job. At the end of the day, it's human communication and client relationships that achieve the best results.

Clients such as MTV, Associated Press, Nike, 3Com, and America Online appreciate this fresh approach to media production. On the following page is a list of some of Mingo Media's better known Broadcast and Corporate clients.

Top-quality production should be a standard for any company proud of its work. Not surprisingly, the qualities Eric learned as an Eagle Scout still hold true. Nothing beats honest hard work and good communication. The relationships Eric and his company have built from coast to coast have contributed to numerous successful team efforts. For example, co-founding the First Octave Fund which grants thousands of dollars each year to music education in public schools. For a more complete list of projects and satisfied clients, please visit Mingo Media online (www.mingomedia.com).

Mingo Media believes that real creativity focuses on productivity. If you would like to know more about how Mingo Media can help your company, please contact Eric Mingorance directly at the information listed below.

Thank you for your consideration.

MINGO MEDIA LLC
BROADCAST & CORPORATE MEDIA PRODUCTION

917.225.1068
www.mingomedia.com

